Woman Power Organized
Back in World War I, President Woodrow Wilson requested that woman power be organized to assist the war effort and the government allocated $65,000 to this end. The National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs was organized as the result of this request.

In July of 1919, 212 business and professional women, representing 45 of the 48 states, met in St. Louis, Missouri to organize the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs.

By-laws were adopted and the National Federation of BPWCs was established as a non-profit, self-governing, member-supported organization. The Federation has grown to almost 180,000 members in approximately 3,800 clubs in 53 State Federations which include the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, and the Virgin Islands.

The Golden Anniversary Convention was held in St. Louis, Missouri in July of this year and many of the Tri-Valley District members attended and had the privilege of meeting and talking with some of the delegates who attended the first meeting in 1919.

bor area, DOD is designated as the lead agency. When an agency is designated as the lead agency for a wage survey, within a specific wage area, it accomplishes all tasks necessary for the ultimate establishment of a wage schedule for a designated local wage area.

Also at the intermediate level are the Agency Wage Committees which are established by lead agencies. The Committee consists of five members of which three are designated by the lead agency, and two are selected by the labor organization having the largest number of wage board employees covered by exclusive recognition in the lead agency.

Thus, the DOD Wage Committee will have two members designated by the Metal Trades Council (AFL-CIO). This committee determines and recommends to the head of the agency those areas where the Committee desires to participate in the planning and reviewing of full scale wage surveys; it may make recommendations on any matter involved in developing the specifications for a full scale local wage survey where the agency proposes not to accept the recommendations of a Local Wage Survey Committee. When a full scale survey is completed, the Committee reviews all aspects of the survey and recommends wage schedules to the pay-fixing authority.

Local Level
At the local or operating level, each activity is responsible for determining pay category and titles for wage board jobs; for properly applying grading standards which are written and issued by the Civil Service Commission; and for properly administering its wage program.

A Local Wage Survey Committee is established in each local wage area which has at least 400 wage board employees, and where the total number of wage board employees under exclusive recognition is equal to at least 10 per cent of the number of wage board employees in the local lead agency activity having the largest wage board employment.

The committee is composed of three members of which two are selected by the lead agency and one is recommended by the labor organization having the largest number of wage board employees under exclusive recognition in the local wage area.

This committee plays a very active role in the wage survey process, including: determining the number of data collectors needed; training and supervising data collectors; conducting hearings on information or recommendations submitted to the Committee; making decisions on such items as job comparability, discriminatory rates, and differences in the interpretation of instructions or procedures; and contacting — unless done by Bureau of Labor Statistics — employers to be surveyed.

Free Fall Weapons Officer Selected From Applicants

Lt. Jim Maslowski, currently assigned as a project pilot at the Naval Air Facility at China Lake, received official confirmation last week that he has been selected to join the exclusive "Blue Angels" flight demonstration team.

The selection was made after consideration by the team of many outstanding candidates who applied for the prestigious opening. Maslowski was finally named after an extensive investigation into his fitness for the job which included personal interviews with both he and his wife Pris, a look at his past fitness reports, and observation of his interest in the team's activities.

The U.S. Navy Flight Demonstration team, the "Blue Angels" was formed to "demonstrate precision techniques of naval aviation to naval personnel and, if directed, to the public.

Since their first flight demonstration in F6F "Hellcats" on June 15, 1946, the Blue Angels have thrilled an estimated 95 million persons with their exacting airmanship in exciting low-level formation flying.

Today, the Blue Angels are flying the Mach 2 F-4J Phantom, now in operational service with the U.S. Navy all over the world. The Phantom was designed and built for the U.S. Navy by McDonnell Douglas Corporation, St. Louis, Mo.

As a result of his selection to the "Blue Angels," Lt. Maslowski and his family will be transferred to NAS Pensacola, Florida, the winter home of the acrobatic team.

New Dental Officer Reports Aboard

It was a complete change of scenery and atmosphere for the Center's new Dental Officer, Capt. Thomas D. Stephenson, when he arrived in Quang Tri Province, Republic of Vietnam, where his dental company was based just below the DMZ.

CAPT. T. D. STEPHENSON

While stationed in Vietnam, Capt. Stephenson was located with the 3rd Marine Division, 1st Fleet Marine Force Dental Company, and he considers that tour as one of the most outstanding experiences of his 26 years in the Navy. The 3rd Dental Company, of which he was Commanding Officer, was the first dental company to ever go into combat in Vietnam—they went in when the Marines went in, to give front line support.

The Center's new Dental Officer entered the Naval service in January 1943 through the V-12 program and received his commission as a line officer in September 1945. He attended Northwestern University in his hometown of Evanston, Illinois, received his Ph.D. in dentistry from

CHAPLAIN'S MESSAGE

Honesty And Ritual

CHAPLAIN JAMES HOGAN

It's amazing how much of our time is spent performing ritual, even by those who say that ritual has no place in their lives. We do it all the time; for example, someone cheerfully bid me good morning the other day and asked me how I was (ritual). I responded by saying truthfully that I felt terrible (honesty). My greeter passed blithely on saying, "Good, glad to hear it" (ritual). It seems that honesty and ritual have a hard time co-existing.

This principle has its application in our predilection for cliches — they cover our real feeling and make it easier to be dishonest. Thus: "He (she) is a pillar of the church." Translation: "That meddling do-gooder is around again." Or, "Father, that was one of your better sermons today." Translation: "You still don't say much, but at least you're keeping them shorter." Or, "I'm not perfect but at least I'm more respectable than so-and-so." Translation: "How come he gets away with it and I can't?"

The trouble is that we don't really believe that honesty is the best policy (another cliché meaning I'd do it if I could but I'm afraid I'll get caught). Thus when it comes to ritual intentionally performed, whether in a religious or secular context, all too often we forget what it means and that it developed out of an honest attempt to say something honest.

Mankind has an instinctive desire to act out, to externalize, what is most deeply within him. Thus, the ceremonies in religious worship, or in military functions, or those connected with formal gatherings — all these and more originally sprang from the desire to express one's honest feelings. If they don't always do that for us, maybe it's not the ritual which is at fault, but our own lack of deep sincerity in what we do.

The remedy? Perhaps for openers we could really mean it the next time we say "how are you" to someone. Honesty, like love, has a tendency to diffuse itself once it catches on. And besides, it's the best cure going for all those old cliches.

Navy To Provide Career Men Better Training Opportunities

With a 10 percent cutback in personnel the Navy is going to concentrate on providing more and better educational training opportunities for the 700,000 military personnel who remain. Better quality is the goal.

In trimming its force—in the face of budget cuts—the Navy is letting out early those officers and men who do not appear to be career motivated. About 8,000 officers and 67,000 enlisted men will be chopped via the early-out route.

BuPers is currently going through records of young male officers to find the least career-motivated. Most of them will be out by the end of the year.

In general—except for the Seabees—early outs for male enlisted personnel have been set for those with an End of Active Obligated Service (EAOS) of Mar. 31, 1970 or earlier. A routine early out of up to three months has been decreed for all of these men, with those on ships or in aircraft squadrons slated for deactivation now authorized early outs for an additional 180 days.

The 180 days (or six months) added to the three months could give a man a nine-month early out date, based on the March 31 period. However, this could back-date to July of this year. Thus, for all practical purposes, the maximum early out is seven months, and the first men getting out will be leaving this month (September).

Seabees—with or without Vietnam duty—can get out up to nine months early, plus 180 days if they are in battalions scheduled for deactivation. The EAOS for them has been set at Sept. 30, 1970 or earlier. Again, adding the nine months and six months (180 days), the back-date would place a man getting out in July of this year. Actually, the first Seabees will be reparting this month—the effective maximum number of months really being 13 months for an early out.

Under the general (three months) early-out program, men whose time is up in November, December or January, can leave in October. Those scheduled out in February or March can depart in November or December, respectively.

Under all the early-out programs for enlisted personnel there are exceptions. They include:

- a. Men who do not want to get out early. b. Those with the Sixth or Seventh Fleets, who will, however, be able to get out within 30 days of return from deployment. c. Personnel in medical/disciplinary status who will be eligible when treatment or action is completed. d. Men serving in the Republic of Vietnam or on non-rotating ships. e. Men going into the Fleet Reserve or on the retired list. f. People who already have approval for early out to go to school or for other reasons. g. Aliens who do not have a reserve obligation but who desire to qualify for U.S. citizenship by completing three years of active duty. h. Yeomen, Personnelmen, Disbursing Clerks and Hospital Corpsmen can have their early out deferred to help with the separation load but only if CinClantFlt or CinCPacFlt concurs.

Women officers and enlisted personnel are not included in any of the early-out programs. Captain Rita Lenihan, WAVES boss, pointed out in a letter to all WAVES that generally they had less obligated service than their male counterparts, and that WAVES are not subject to the draft and presumably want to complete their tour.

The Chief of Naval Operations has emphasized the need for retention of well qualified, career motivated personnel who are "the Navy's greatest asset." He was told Commanding Officers to make sure that every man who wants to, has an opportunity to take advantage of programs available to professional Navy men.

VX-5 PETTY OFFICERS ADVANCE — At special quarters on September 14, Capt. Charles W. Fritz, Commanding Officer, advanced five VX-5 petty officers. These advancements were earned by high achievement on the Navy-wide competitive examinations administered all over the world last February. Those advanced and their new rates are: (l to r) ATN-3 David McKey, SD-2 Renato Endozo; AEC Fred Akins, AZ-3 Tom Williams, and AME-2 Robert Homier. Also advanced but not pictured were ADJ-1 Charles Brakefield and AK-1 Claude Yarborough.

Goals, Function Of Federal Wage System Told

In its August 22 edition, the Rocketeer described the background which leads to formation of the new Coordinated Federal Wage System. In this article, and subsequent ones, the Rocketeer will provide more information on the system itself and its operation.

The new system makes major changes in pay-setting for all Federal ungraded employees, and particularly for ungradeds in Navy. It is expected that China Lake and Corona ungraded employees will go into the new system early in December, 1969.

Three Levels To make the system operational, the organizational and functional responsibilities of the new Coordinated Federal Wage System are spread over three levels, i.e., government-wide, agency, and local.

The Chairman of the Civil Service Commission is at the top of this responsibility - distribution pyramid. The Commission determines the basic policies and procedures for the system, and monitors its operation.

The National Wage Policy Committee, established by the Chairman of the Civil Service Commission, is also located at the government-wide level. This Committee has 11 members. Five of the members are selected by the Chairman of the Civil Service Commission; four are selected by the President of the AFL - CIO; one member is designated by an independent labor organization selected on a rotating basis by the Chairman of the Civil Service Commission; and the Committee Chairman is appointed by the Chairman of the Civil Service Commission. The National Association of Government Employees was selected as the initial independent labor organization for nomination of a member to this committee. The committee's function is to consider major policy matters and to make its recommendations on such matters to the Chairman of the Civil Service Commission.

Intermediate Level At the intermediate level of the pyramid are the various agencies. Each agency is responsible for fixing and administering rates of pay for its employees, within the Coordinated Federal Wage System framework of policies and procedures.

Under the Coordinated Federal Wage System, the agency that is the primary employer of Federal wage board employees in a local wage area is usually designated by the Civil Service Commission as the lead agency for wage surveys; analyzes wage survey data, and develops and issues all wage schedules for the local wage area. A representative of the Civil Service Commission recently stated that the Department of Defense retained the "lead agency" function at the DOD level for those areas which have a substantial mixture of Army-Air Force-Navy employees.

Federal Wage System Survey Began Sept. 16

Frank Meyers of the Long Beach Naval Shipyard, a Chairman of the Los Angeles Area Wage Survey Committee, announced that the Department of Defense Wage Fixing Authority directed the Los Angeles area wage survey to begin on September 16.

Results of the survey will provide a new schedule of wages for ungraded employees in the Los Angeles area, and at China Lake under a special schedule. The effective date for new wage rates to be paid will be the first Sunday after approximately November 30.

Some 233 industrial, and municipal, and job-shop organizations are scheduled to be visited in order to obtain wage data.

Wage data collecting for the San Bernardino - Riverside-Corona area began on September 16, and the resulting schedule of wages will affect ungraded employees at the Corona Labs.

In the case of both China Lake and Corona Labs, the effective date of the new schedules of wages will also require introduction of the new Coordinated Federal Wage System which will cover all ungraded employees at both locations. The Rocketeer will carry a series of articles providing information on the new system.

Flag Football Opens Season

The Wolves began the 1970 Flag Football season with a vengeance Tuesday night as they stomped the team from NAF, 21-6. Mike Gulbranson scored two touchdowns, one in the 1st period and another in the 2nd.

In the fourth period, Marv Johnson, quarterback for the Wolves, hit end Gary Anderson with a 15-yard touchdown pass right over the middle. The Wolves ran for extra points successfully following each touchdown.

Jim Stevens scored the first touchdown of the game in the 1st period for NAF, but the team was quiet after that. Brant of NAF was on his toes defensively, but to no avail, as the Wolves ran roughshod over their opponents, intercepting nearly a half-dozen passes in the game.

which the Wolves won, 21-6. Mike Gulbranson, behind Dobson, prepares to run interference, while end Gary Anderson is shown blocking an unidentified player from NAF.

Howard Kelly will direct a class in model rocketry, on Thursday evenings from 7 to 8:30 at the Youth Center. Persons desiring further information on this course are directed to contact Kelly at Ext. 72825 or 71392.

Tennis Clinic

This eight-week course will begin October 6 for beginners and advanced students, under the direction of Roy and Sherry Miller. Classes will be held on Mondays from 3 to 5 p.m.

Boxing Team

This class will be a boxing program designed to form a boxing team, rather than a boxing clinic, according to Marty Denkin, the instructor. Included in the course will be field trips to the Olympic Auditorium in Los Angeles; the Forum, in Inglewood; and the Valley Gardens.

Twenty participants of this class will be chosen to represent China Lake on a boxing team, which will be coached by Denkin. Class activity begins October 13, four days per week, from 3:30 to 5 p.m., at the Youth Center.

Dry Land Ski School

In addition, Allison will hold a one-hour clinic on bowling, and will perform a repertoire of trick-shots for the audience.

Allison, who is often called a "Bowler's Bowler," is rated as an acknowledged expert of the game by those who know. He is ranked 11th on the all-time money-winning list, and has been a steady casher on the pro tour in recent years.

Allison is a two-time member of the All-American team, and has been in the Professional Bowlers' Association since its inception in 1959.

Reardon Field Scene of KofC Softball Game

Reardon Field was the scene recently of a softball game between the Knights of Columbus at Edwards Air Force Base and the Ridgecrest-China Lake KofC. The Air Force sank the local contingent, 24-3.

Playing before a packed house, the local squad, using three "honorary members," found that the outside help wasn't enough as the team from Edwards unloaded quite a few "bombs" for the happy spectators, who were served free refreshments.

This was the first of a planned series of ball games between the two clubs, and local representatives of the Knights of Columbus promised revenge at the next encounter.

The C. L. Tennis Club's Fall Tournament will begin Oct. 4 and 5. Call Sherry Miller for details, 446-5448.

Fairgrounds Scene of Annual Desert Empire Fair Oct. 8-12

Five fun-packed days are in store for the entire community when the Desert Empire Fair stages its annual celebration on its own fairgrounds park, south of Richmond Road, Wednesday through Sunday, October 8-12.

"Fair-time is Family-time," says Joshua, four-footed symbol of the Fair, and there will be exciting events for every member of the family every one of the five days, in addition to a midway lined with food, drink, and game booths and a wide variety of "rides", and beautiful things to be seen in the big top, with its sawdust floor.

For the people of Indian Wells Valley, this festival holds a meaning and an appeal far beyond that of the customary trappings, since the people are the Fair's owners, and their neighbors are its operators. This means that young and old from China Lake, Ridgecrest, Inyokern, Randsburg, Trona, and all the back country around can expect to see their friends on the fairgrounds—not just taking part in the fun provided, but also enjoying themselves at work behind the counters, in the booths, and roaming the grounds to make sure that everyone is having a good time.

For all visitors a new attraction has been added this year: namely, an opportunity to win an assortment of prizes contributed by local businesses, by simply being present if their numbers are called each night—at 9:30 p.m. Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday, and at 10 p.m. Saturday and Sunday. Some $100 worth of certificates for merchandise and services will be awarded daily, and everyone over 12 years of age has a chance.

Prizes or trophies will also be given to winners in a number of competitions. Awards especially for kids include a Little Miss Desert Empire Fair Pageant for girls 7 through 10 at 6:30 p.m. on Wednesday. . . a Pet Contest for youngsters 16 and under at the same time on Thursday. . . a Dog Contest for the same age group at 6:30 on Friday. . . and a Bike Decoration Contest for youngsters 14 and younger on Saturday at 7 p.m.

Events "for everyone—regardless of age," in Joshua's words, are highlighted by the Turtle Races, famous throughout the southland, which will be held at 2 p.m. on Saturday.

All during the Fair, art, craft, and hobby entries will be on display in the big top, together with their respective division rating; and the names of their creators will be familiar to many.

All spectators at the gala Desert Empire Fair Parade starting at 10 a.m. Saturday will experience the thrill of recognizing many of the marchers, equestrians, bandsmen, color guard, and float riders as they pass by; while almost as many more Valleyites will be meeting their buddies at the marshalling grounds or the disbanding area, among the hundreds of entrants from all over the west.

Another category of events, designated by Joshua "Specially for Grown-ups Who Still Like to Play Cowboys-and-Indians," will start out with a Western Dress competition for everyone in the family, at 8:30 p.m. on the opening day, October 8. This is an innovation for getting folks into the feel of dressing right for the fair, according to Ann Norris, who, with her husband Max has been preparing "adult" events for a long time.

Equally calculated to stimulate participation in the country-fair atmosphere is the popular Whiskerino at 8 p.m. on Friday—to be followed this year by a "Shave-off," 1969 FAIR OFFERINGS — The four hand-tinted enlargements of the Bristlecone Pine pictured above will be given four lucky ticket-holders at the Desert Empire Fairgrounds October 12, a 8 p.m. The tickets, which will be on sale during the Desert Empire Fair (October 8-12) are presently being sold at the Maturango Museum on Saturdays and Sundays from 2 to 5 p.m. The photographs were taken and enlarged by Bill Fettkether, mounted for framing by Jack Durk, and tinted by Kenneth Robinson. Persons desiring further information about the photographs, or regarding raffle tickets, are asked to call the Maturango Museum.

with a special trophy for the fastest shaver.

Other contests will include a Horseshoe Tournament which will be held on each of the five evenings from 8 to 10 p.m., and a Tug-O-War for youth and senior groups. . . Six critters (all male, all female, or any convenient combination) will pull and tug and otherwise drag their opponents across a mud pit to win," promises Joshua.

As many teams as get their entry forms in by Friday, October 3, will scramble each other at 7:30 p.m. Thursday and Friday, with play-offs Sunday night.

The Community will even figure in many ways in the trophies that will be awarded. For instance, local volunteers are soliciting donations from local businesses and other groups to purchase a VX-5 flyover that opens the parade (already pledged by the IWW Chapter of the Disabled American Veterans) to a $6.50 gift that covers a first-place or Sweepstakes trophy with engraving of the donor's name and the activity.

The contributor is at liberty to select the item he wants to back, so that, over the years, many contestants—even those from outside the Desert Empire—will come to identify the prizes for which they are vying with a traditional sponsor. Furthermore, the prizes for the game booths being ordered this year from a local broker, G. E. Whiteside of Ridgecrest. And Director Lou Sidney, the purchasing officer, declares he will get the best possible prices for food and drink concessionaires, and still follow the Fair's policy of patronizing home merchants.

Between now and fairtime, the headquarters trailer, parked next to the Ridge Theatre on China Lake Blvd., will be manned from 1 to 6 p.m. five days a week, to distribute entry forms, answer questions, and accept all donations and offers of help from anyone who wants a more active part in his own Community project, The Desert Empire Fair.

There are several good protections against temptation. The surest of which is cowardice.

CLOVER TO PLAY — The China Lake Youth Center will sponsor a dance at the Community Center, tonight from 8 p.m. to 1 a.m. Entertainment will be provided by the "Clover," the group pictured above. The dance will be open to all junior high, high school and college students of the local area. Admission will be $2 per person and $1 each for Junior and Senior Student Union members.

Schroyer and S/Sgt. Hilmmandolar.

The ceremony, which was the background for the presentation of twenty awards, included the following actions:

In addition, special awards for a one-mile swim were awarded Steven Sound, and John Di Pol was issued a Den Chief Warrant.

The annual 50 mile hike is one of the more unique and popular activities of Troop 41, and this year a total of 11 boys, escorted by Don Moore and Bill Finnegan, participated in a six-day backpack trip in the high country of Yosemite National Park. Each of the boys were awarded a 50-Miler patch.

The troop is led by Scoutmaster Marv Backman, who is ably assisted by Moore and Carter. Troop 41 is sponsored by the Protestant Congregation of the All Faith Chapel, and meets every Wednesday evening at 7 p.m. at the Scout Hut, on McIntire St.

Any boy interested in joining need only come to any one of the Troop 41 meetings and contact the Scoutmaster or other adults present.

Area Schools To Open Doors For Scouting Program

A new program recently launched by the Boy Scouts of America, called "School Night for Scouting," will be initiated September 30 when elementary schools of the local area will open their doors to Scouts, youngsters and parents interested in the Cub Scout and Boy Scout program.

The program is planned to operate simultaneously at every elementary school throughout the county in order to provide an opportunity for all boys of Cub Scouts and Boy Scout age, with their parents, to become members of the Scouting movement.

Interested boys and their parents are urged to attend the elementary school nearest their homes to meet the Scout and Cub leaders that will be present at the schools.

Dave Alfson, District Chairman for the local area, has stated that all of the boys will be able to join a Scout unit on that evening.

The meeting will convene at 7:15 p.m., and in most cases will be staged in the cafeteria of the elementary school of each neighborhood.

Former Marines Asked To Join Local MC League

All former Marines are invited to attend and join the League.

The surest way to lose weight is to stop eating. Remember, nothing ventured, nothing gained.

Band Granted Bus for After Hours Events

According to the Board of Trustees of the Kern High School District, school bus transportation has been reinstated for band members participating in after school or evening special events. The reinstatement came on the recommendation of Superintendent Dr. John Eckhardt.

In backgrounding the original plan to eliminate the transportation, Dr. Eckhardt explained that "drastic cuts in the overall high school district budget were made for 1969-70 and every phase of the educational program came under close scrutiny. All reductions affected the education of youth in some way, some more serious than others."

Dr. Eckhardt then told the board, "an editorial in the Bakersfield Californian alerted us to widespread parental anxiety regarding the transportation of participating students to evening special events. The district office also received inquiries. In response to the situation, therefore, it is recommended that the transportation be reinstated, noting that the funds must be taken from rapidly diminishing reserve funds."

The board indicated it would be responsive to the community's wishes, as has been its past policy, and voted to reinstate the bus transportation immediately.
