Optimists select Marr as China Lake Police Officer of the Year

"To serve and protect" are more than just words to Mark Marr, they are the reason he became a China Lake Police Officer. In fact, because he follows the philosophy of those words, Marr was named China Lake Police Officer of the Year by the Ridgecrest/China Lake Optimist Club during its banquet culminating "Respect for Law" week, which was April 22-28.

Marr has been associated with the China Lake Police Department since putting himself through the Bakersfield Police Academy. According to China Lake's Police Chief James Brown, Marr was cited for his dedication in supporting the NWC mission.

As a field training officer, Marr helps train new hires in police procedures and the Naval Weapons Center's policies and regulations. "It's more like on-the-job training," he said.

In addition to being a field training officer, Marr is also a member of the China Lake Emergency Response Unit. "The ERU is similar to a SWAT team," he said. "We are called in when there's a bomb threat, hostage situation or for situations which may be more than an ordinary police officer can handle." The ERU member said he plans on attending a class in Modesto soon which will help him become a more effective participant in the unit.

Navy Meritorious Civilian Service Award given to Al Green at his retirement party

Presenting the highest award he can bestow, Capt. Douglas W. Cook, Naval Weapons Center Commander, congratulated Arold (Al) K. Green as he pinned the retiree with the Navy Meritorious Civilian Service Award medal.

Following four years active duty in the Air Force, Green became a civil servant for a fruitful career of nearly 36 years. In 1960 he came to China Lake's Naval Ordnance Test Station as a research physicist in the Physics Division of the Research Department.

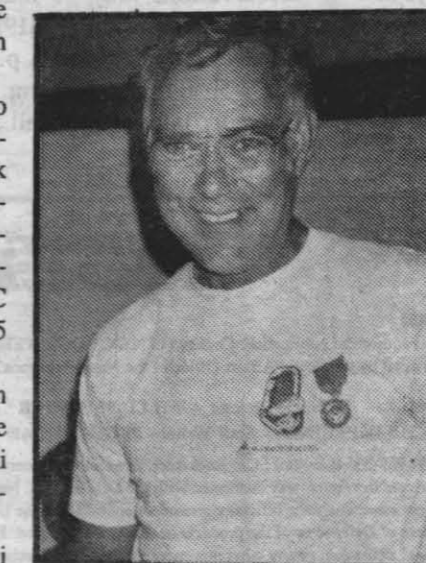

His study of material surfaces at China Lake have helped to advance the understanding of superconductivity in the scientific community; and many NWC projects have reaped the benefits of his work with carbon films and coatings for wear reduction and optical applications. In 1985 Green earned the Technical Director Award for outstanding scientific achievements leading to an advanced semiconductor device for microwave applications. His last five years at NWC were spent researching the use of molecular beam epitaxy to grow 3-5 semiconductor material.

In addition to his scientific achievements, Green is also well known for nearly 30 years of contributions as a member of the China Lake Mountain Rescue Group (CLMRG) and 15 years with the National Ski Patrol at Shirley Meadows. Many valley residents know him as a first-aid instructor for the American Red Cross.

Research Department co-workers, members of the CLMRG and Ski

Patrol, and other close friends celebrated his retirement April 20 at a backyard barbeque where Green was presented with the medal.

Green and his wife, Eva Bien, will remain in the Indian Wells Valley. He plans to spend his expanded free time rock climbing and furthering his climbing equipment business with partner, Bob Rockwell.

RETIREMENT HAS ITS REWARDS -- Al Green proudly wears the Navy Meritorious Civil Service Award medal he received at his retirement party April 20.

Navy land banned for off-road use

From the NWC Public Affairs Office:

It has been brought to our attention by citizens living in the area, that land under the Naval Weapons Center aircraft approach corridor adjacent to Inyokern Road and owned by the Navy and Kerr McGee Chemical Corporation is being used for recreational purposes by persons with motorcycles, dune buggies, and other off-road type vehicles. The resultant dust and noise is reported to be an extreme nuisance to residents in the area.

China Lake Police will randomly patrol the area outlined on the map and issue citations to any persons not authorized to use the property.

ET1 LLOYD's leadership lands Navy Achievement accolade

In recognition of his professional achievements and superior performance of duties during 1989 at the Naval Weapons Center, Electronics Technician First Class (Aviation Warfare) Dwayne L. Lloyd was awarded the Navy Achievement Medal. Capt. Robert A. Dropp, commanding officer of enlisted personnel, presented a citation and medal to the petty officer in front of friends and co-workers in an awards ceremony earlier this week.

As a member of Ground Electronics Maintenance Branch, Aircraft Department, ET1 Lloyd carried out the duties of the leading petty officer, divisional career counselor and command training team member. The citation, which accompanied the medal, read, "Displaying outstanding professional capabilities and a keen sense of responsibility, Petty Officer Lloyd consistently performed his demanding duties as leading petty officer in an exemplary and thoroughly professional manner. His skillful management of the Ground Electronics Division enabled the command to meet all communications, meteorological and navigational commitments. Additionally, his inspiring leadership and emphasis on quality maintenance directly contributed to Air Operations Department maintaining 100 percent mission capability rate."

Petty Officer Lloyd left China Lake after the awards ceremony. He and his family are heading to his hometown of Detroit, Michigan, where he will work in the Navy Recruiting Office for approximately three weeks. Following his temporary stay in Detroit, he and his family will go to Guam for ET1 Lloyd's next duty station.

A FINAL REWARD--ET1 Dwayne Lloyd was honored with the Navy Achievement Medal before leaving NWC with his wife, Karen and daughter, Janelle. Capt. Robert Dropp presented the medal.

DoD presses for reprogramming

The question on the minds of personnel in uniform today is how will they be affected should the Department of Defense (DoD) be denied approval to reprogram funds to meet the military personnel (MPN) budget.

Of the fiscal year 1990 funds requested in the budget for Navy personnel, Congressional adjustments reduced that amount by $17.6 million. To meet Gramm-Rudman-Hollings deficit reduction targets for 1990, the Navy must further set aside, or "sequester," $285.1 million. To avoid disruptions in recruiting and other personnel programs, Navy officials want to transfer, or "reprogram," funds from other accounts to cover that $285.1 million.

Reprogramming of funds requires approval of the Armed Services and Appropriations Committees in both the House and Senate. In the past, such reprogramming requests have been viewed as routine and have been approved to cover unexpected costs incurred by the Navy. However, reprogramming requests for this fiscal year have met with resistance because of pressure from the Gramm-Rudman-Hollings budget reductions so it is still unknown if those requests will be honored.

If reprogramming is not allowed where does that leave DoD and the Navy?

Some estimates call for separations of up to 21,900 Navy, 19,800 Air Force, 18,700 Army, and 7,800 Marine active duty personnel by October 1. Other actions resulting from denial of reprogramming could include: cuts in military accessions, elimination of selective reenlistment bonuses, "early out" programs, delaying rotations, cuts in school/training programs, and delayed promotions. VAdm. Mike Boorda, Chief of Naval Personnel, said in the March 5 Navy Times in a letter to Rep. Beverly Byron (R-Md), that should these reductions happen, "We (the Navy) would enter a downward spiral that would, in only a few months, create a force even more hollow than that experienced in the late 1970s. We would enter the 1990s in worse shape than we started the 1980s."

Presently, the Navy does not anticipate forcing discharging personnel performing at a satisfactory level.

If the MPN reprogramming is not authorized, some military personnel (in Space and Naval Warfare Systems Command) could experience any of the following:

- delays in projected rotation dates to hold down PCS costs
- delays in filling vacant billets
- delays in promotions
- personnel with an EAOS in FY90 might be required to reenlist by a specified date
- decreased training opportunities
- decreased travel/per diem funds

At this time, the Chief of Naval Personnel does not foresee having to cut billets as a direct result of Gramm-Rudman-Hollings; however, there will be continuing pressure to reduce force levels in the coming years.

The Chief on Naval Personnel continues to execute the 1990 MPN account in expectation that reprogramming will be approved.

QUESTION
On television I saw a program where they talked about a new school for people who run restaurants where they send their cooks to learn how to cook low cholesterol and low fat meals to serve in regular commercial restaurants. It occurred to me that the people who run the EM Club should go to a school like that because they serve pretty high-fat food. It might help the general health of the work force here if they served healthier food.

ANSWER
Apparently, you are unaware of the Healthy Heart/Cooking Program which is sponsored and supported by the Naval Military Personnel Command. As part of the program, the Seafarer Club serves a salad, potato and sandwich/soup bar which meet some of the program's requirements. In addition, baked food, such as the baked fish offered on Fridays, were added to the hot line menu for those who wanted a healthy, hot meal. For further information regarding the Healthy Heart/Cooking Program, please call the new Seafarer Club manager, Tim McCullough, at 446-6929. Your interest in improving Seafarer Club operations and the health of our workforce is appreciated.

All China Lakers, including military personnel, civilian employees and their dependents, are invited to submit questions to this column. Such queries must be in good taste and pertain to matters of interest to a large segment of the China Lake community. Answers to these questions are directly from Capt. Douglas Cook. Please call NWC ext. 2727 with your question and state whether you are a military member, civilian employee or dependent. No other identification is necessary. Since only three or four questions can be answered in the Rocketeer each week, anyone who would like to ensure getting an answer to a question may leave their name and phone number for a direct contact, but otherwise, this is not required. There is no intent that this column be used to subvert normal, established chain-of-command channels.

Assuring quality is their business

Members of the Product Assurance Division of the Engineering Department (Code 368) are constantly seeking to improve services to their customers. This division encourages their people to be creative, innovative and to assume ever increasing levels of responsibility.

Joe Oliver, the new division head, is excited about the people in Code 368. He said, "This division is filled with creative, innovative and talented people—people who have pride in their work. Our people, plus the challenging opportunities of providing meaningful support to Center programs, are what makes this division an interesting place to work."

Code 368 is starting to make changes so the Naval Weapons Center's mission will be better served. According to Oliver, "Even though we are in the process of changing and improving our services, the people work as a team. If you walk through the offices in this division, you will see men and women exchanging ideas and advice with their co-workers. Everyone benefits from these exchanges, the new employees learn from the experience of their mentors and the mentors learn new ideas from new employees. This type of teamwork is invaluable to us and our customers. Our customers benefit because quality from the inception improves the project and lowers their costs. We are striving not only for continuing improvements, but closer integration with NWC program offices.

One of the many improvements Code 368 is implementing is continuous training and cross-training of employees. This concept has been well-received by division personnel. According to Dave Goodell, "Cross-training keeps us fresh and learning and opens our minds to what co-workers are doing."

John Boutwell, associated division head, is dedicated to increasing the potential of each person. "We encourage people to expand their capabilities and interact with each other and their customers. We are working on better ways to recognize and respond to our customers' needs."

Quality, teamwork and communication are methods used by Code 368 managers to reach their goals.

Just two examples of the quality of Product Assurance Division employees are Christine Graham, a motivated and talented individual who is one of the recipients of the NWC Team Award for contributions to the Standard Missile program; and Harold Owens, (Continued on Page 10)

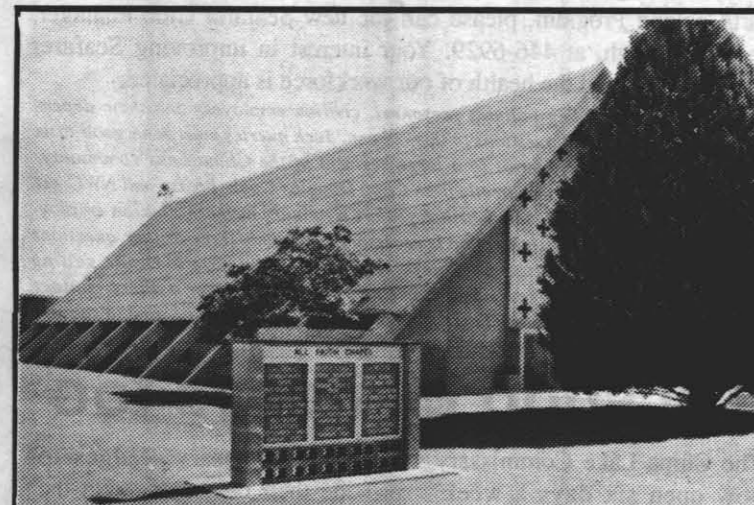

"Seeing Jesus"

You will see Me most clearly, Jesus says, in the faces of those brothers and sisters whose demands on your love and concern are hardest to meet. You will see Me most clearly, Jesus says, in the faces of your brothers and sisters whom you find it hardest to love.

There is the story of the impetuous young man who spied a beautiful maiden walking through a park and immediately began to follow her. After a time, the maiden turned and confronted her pursuer: "Why do you dog my footsteps?" she demanded. "Because," he said fervently, "you are so beautiful. I am madly in love with you and wish you to be mine." To this the girl replied, "But you have merely to look behind you to see my younger sister. She is far more beautiful than I." The young man quickly wheeled about but saw no one. "You have mocked me," he said to the girl, "you have lied to me." To which she replied, "If you were so madly in love with me, why did you turn around?"

Abiding love or temporary infatuation? That is our choice. Do we accept Jesus' invitation to enter the kingdom now, or do we turn our heads in the direction of every passing allurements? This is not a question of rejecting the world in favor of the Kingdom. Rather, it is a matter of embracing the world in the Spirit of the Kingdom. If we enter into our worldly affairs and our human relationships in the spirit of sacrificial love we have already accepted Jesus' invitation to the Kingdom of Now. The choice is a difficult one, as Jesus promises us again and again. We cannot hope to ever recognize our heavenly Host in all His glory until we have first recognized Him hanging on the cross -- and in the faces of the least of His brothers.

Hazardous materials control: Combining new versions of old products with daily prevention

Hazardous materials should be controlled in daily routine

Effectively controlling hazardous materials and toxic substances requires a team effort. You can help by incorporating some of the following practices into your daily routine:

- Read the labels on packages and containers you receive, store or use.
- Obtain Material Safety Data Sheets (MSDSs) from suppliers for materials and supplies which carry warning labels and for chemicals, mixtures, synthetics, etc.
- Make these warnings and instructions part of Job Safety Analysis, Standard Operating Procedures (SOPs) and safety meetings at your worksite.
- Plan for and implement proper storage facilities BEFORE the hazardous materials arrive. This will decrease the potential hazard risk and preserve the dollar value of these items.
- Make a flow sheet showing how each hazardous material moves through your plant, including by-products and wastes.
- Confine these materials in quality equipment and facilities. Use closed systems for transfer and for processing.
- Plan for waste disposal BEFORE wastes are generated.
- Prepare a spill prevention, control and countermeasure (SPCC) plan to keep spills of toxic substances and hazardous materials from becoming pollutants and to preserve their dollar value.
- Make hazardous materials conservation part of your energy conservation program. Recover and recycle these materials back into your process. Keep wastes of different types separate to ease analytical and disposal costs.
- Actively search out and promote the use of less hazardous substitutions.

Less hazardous materials may meet requirements

OPNAVINST 4110.2 requires NWC to use less hazardous materials where feasible. The Safety Program Office is actively searching out less hazardous products. Based on a limited review, Code 24053 has identified the following products as less hazardous and meeting the OPNAV requirements.

Cool Tool II contains no 1,1,1 trichloroethane and is advertised as non-toxic and extremely effective as a cutting fluid on all metal surfaces, including stainless steel and aluminum. For more information, contact Mary K. Rice, Monroe Fluid Technology, 36 Draffin Road, Box 810, Hilton, NY 14468; 800-828-6351.

#140 Saf-Soly is advertised as a safe replacement for chlorinated cleaning solvents (1,1,1 trichloroethane, perchloroethylene and methylene chloride) where conditions necessitate a solvent with high solvency characteristics. The solvent is used primarily to clean machinery, electro-mechanical equipment and their parts. Features include low toxicity, high-dielectric strength, high flash point, high kauri-butanol rating and low residual. More information can be obtained from BIO-TEK, Inc. P.O. Box 20094, San Diego, CA 92120; 619-286-1786.

Safest Stripper, paint and varnish remover, is advertised as containing no methylene chloride and is currently being sold locally. More information can be obtained from 3M Corporation, Building 230-2S-17, St. Paul, MN 55144.

Ship Shape Rosin Cleaner, manufactured by the GAF Chemical Corporation (Wayne, NJ) is advertised as an acetone replacement for cleaning materials such as rosin and fiberglass. The product is retrievable. More information can be obtained by contacting John Willis, Erskine Johns Company, 213-262-1208.

Wax Cut, offered by Action Technologies, Inc., 100 Thompson Street, P.O. Box 726, Pittsburg, PA 18640-0726, is a nonhazardous agent (NFPA = 0,0,0) that can replace TCE in some applications. Suggested uses are for removing flux, oils and other contaminants.

In addition to the general requirement to use less hazardous materials, OPNAVINST 5090.2 requires NWC to phase out the use of products containing certain chlorofluorocarbons (CFC). Substitute products are available from RAMCO Specialty Products (Gum-off) and Dupont, in addition to those listed below:

Genesolve 2010, a blend of hydrochlorofluorocarbons (HCFCs), alcohol and stabilizers, is identified by a panel of 230 industry and government researchers, organized by the Environmental Protection Agency as a substitute for chlorofluorocarbon (CFC) 113. Genesolve 2010 will clean pc boards as well or better than CFC 113 but poses less of an environmental threat. More information can be obtained from Allied Signal, Morristown, NJ; 201-455-2000.

Duster Buster is available from RAMCO Specialty Products, 5956 State Road, Bakersfield, CA 93308, 800-334-7071. It is non-flammable, moisture-free and can be used to remove dust from technical instruments. It is also residue and abrasion free.

Seatbelt myths don't stand up to the facts

Seat belts do work! In a recent accident aboard the Naval Weapons Center, seat belts did more than work -- they saved lives. The victims, although they suffered injuries, survived the accident thanks to their use of safety belts.

By studying automobile accidents, experts have found it is usually the second collision that injures and kills people. The first collision is when one car hits another car or object. The second collision (or human collision) occurs when unbelted occupants are thrown into the car's windshield, steering wheel, doors, dashboard and other passengers. What can be done to avoid this? Wear a safety belt.

You know everything you need to know about seat belts, right? Let's take a look at some common myths and facts regarding seat belts.

Myth -- "I don't need a safety belt when I'm traveling at low speeds or going on a short trip."

Fact -- "Fifty percent of fatal accidents involve impact speeds of less than 35 miles per hour; 80% of all motor-vehicle accidents occur at speeds less than 40 miles per hour; and three out of four fatal crashes occur within 25 miles of the victim's home."

Myth -- "I might be saved if I'm thrown clear of the car in an accident."

Fact -- "Statistically, your chances of being killed are 25 times greater if you are ejected from the car. Why? Because three things often happen -- 1) the victim is ejected through the windshield; 2) the victim is partially ejected and scraped along the ground as the car continues to move; and/or 3) the victim is thrown out the door and crushed by his/her own car."

Myth -- "I don't need a seat belt. In case of an accident, I can brace myself with my hands."

Fact -- "At 35 miles per hour, the force of impact is tremendous. There is no way your arms or legs can brace you against that kind of collision. The speed and force are too great."

Myth -- "If I wear a safety belt, I might be trapped in a burning or submerged car."

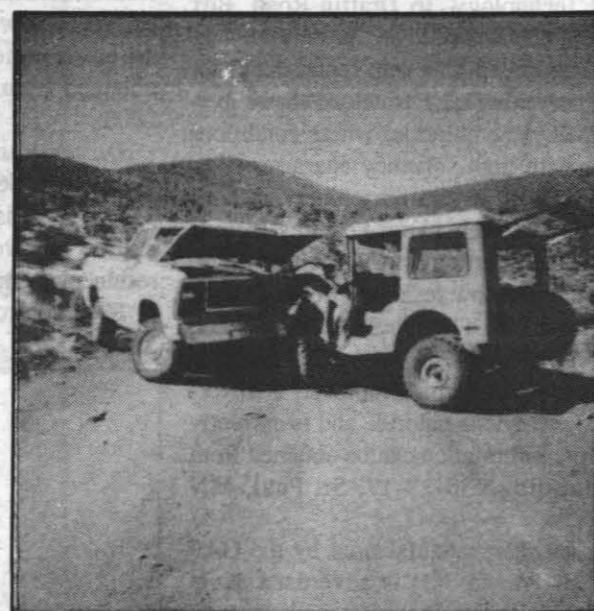

Fact -- Less than one half of one percent of all collisions involve fire or submersion. But, if your car does catch fire or goes into water, if you are protected by a safety belt, you are much less likely to hit the windshield or dashboard and be knocked unconscious. Your chances of escape are much better if you remain alert.

Wearing your safety belt and encouraging others to wear them shows you care. When you realize what can happen to people in automobile accidents and how safety belts provide protection, you soon realize the danger in not wearing a safety belt. When you fasten your seat belt, you're taking good care of yourself. When you encourage others to fasten their belts, you're showing them that you care.

A LIFE SAVED--In this accident which occurred on an NWC range, the victims survived, thanks to seatbelts!

You once mentioned that laser jet toner cartridges could be recycled. Could you please reprint the procedure.

Even though Earth Day has come and gone for another year, I think it's a great idea for everyone to keep up the recycling spirit. In that light, here's the information you wanted.

The recharging of laser printer cartridges is covered under the printer maintenance contract. To initiate a trouble call, contact the PC Lab Trouble Desk at NWC ext. 2575. Be prepared to give the following information: point of contact (your name), alternate point of contact (someone else's name), phone number, code, building and room numbers. Then sit back and wait; your part is done.

The contractor will come out to your location, usually by the next day, and trade a recharged toner cartridge and fixing roller cleaner for your empty toner cartridge and dirty fixing roller cleaner. If, on the odd chance that the contractor does not have a recharged toner cartridge in stock to swap with you, there may be up to a two week wait. However, do not despair as this is not usually the case. But, if you recycle toner cartridges regularly, you might want to keep a second toner cartridge on hand just in case.

Installing a toner cartridge is a two step process in the HP LaserJet II and Apple LaserWriter. First, push the new or recharged toner cartridge into place. That's the obvious part. Second, this is the not so obvious part, lift the green fixing assembly cover; it is labeled "WARNING HIGH TEMPERATURE" in several languages, you cannot miss it.

Inside you will find a long, about nine inches, green thing with a felt pad on the bottom; this is the fixing roller cleaner. It is very important to change this every time you change the toner cartridge. Otherwise, you are guaranteed to start getting poor quality output in a short time or may need to have the printer serviced. Do not overlook this important step.

Three Center employees will sing solo parts in a performance of Franz Schubert's Mass No. 2 in G-Major with the Desert Community Orchestra and the Cerro Coso College Choir tomorrow evening, May 5, at 7:30 p.m. in the Cerro Coso Lecture Hall. The soloists are Carol Sakai, a mathematician in the Survivability and Lethality Division; Tim Poole, a physicist with Electro-Optics Guidance Division; and Ted Fiske, a lead contract specialist in the Procurement Division.

Both Poole, who sang for four years in the chapel choir as an undergraduate at the University of Redlands; and Fiske, who has sung with a number of choral groups, both in this country and abroad, are well known locally for their performances with local choral groups and in CLOTA musicals.

Other featured singers include Lois Sanders, Ferrell Bailey, Linda Chandler, Steve Frank and Henry Ignacio.

Tickets for the concert are available from members of the choir and at the door. Prices are $8 for general admission and $6.50 for those 18 and under or 65 and over, as well as for all military personnel.

Sea World honors military spouses

It has been said military spouses have the hardest job in the armed services. And because of this, the staff at Sea World feels they deserve a break. Sea World's yearly salute to the military spouse is May 12 and 13 (Mother's Day weekend). On those two days, spouses can get into the park for free!

To take advantage of this salute, military spouses can pick up a free spouses pass at Crafter. The passes will not be available at Sea World's main gate. Military identification is necessary to pick up the pass and for entrance into Sea World.

Active duty military personnel and dependents have not been left out. Discount tickets are available at Crafter for $16.25 per adult and $12.10 per child. Regular gate price is $21 and $15.50.

Treat your spouse to a special day and enjoy the best marine park anywhere. Sea World is open daily from 9 a.m. to dusk.

On Monday, May 7, the Macintosh User Group (MUG) will meet at 2:30 p.m. in the Michelson Lab Management Center. Attendees will have an opportunity to learn about the status of an E-Mail study designed to make the Macintosh aspects of NWC's electronic mail system more effective and easier to use.

For the past several months department E-Mail representatives have been conducting E-Mail product evaluations to find a replacement for InBox 2.2 and a way to integrate PC and Vax E-Mail. Chuck

Jones and Karl Olmstead will present interim results and the status of this effort.

At the end of the meeting, Rose Short will coordinate a "breakout session" to allow attendees to address their specific needs in smaller, more focused groups.

The Management Center provides only 50 seats, and attendees will be admitted only until the room is full. Both NWC and contractor employees who work on the Mac are invited. Bring a blank, formatted 800k disk to receive free software.

JP program provides participants guidance

To provide new professionals with information about themselves that will help them plan their careers at NWC is the purpose of the Junior Professional (JP) Career Guidance and Counseling Program. This program includes eight hours of tests and a feedback session with a professional counselor.

Some questions answered by this program are:

•Do you now have essentially technical or managerial (or both) capabilities? What are your prospects for future development?

•How can you use your creativity? Should you emphasize research or applications?

•What are your major values and priorities for personal and career development?

•What are your major strengths and weaknesses in dealing with others?

•With what size group would you work best?

•What additional training (technical, academic or other) do you need for further development?

The next testing will be held Tuesday and Wednesday, May 15-16, from 7:30 to 11:30 a.m. at the Training Center. Counseling sessions will be held at a later date.

To be included in the May testing, call Helen at NWC ext. 2648.

Note: Test results and any related information are kept confidential.

May 11--Movement through Soft Martial Arts--Tai Chi and Aikido, by Marla McBride. The purpose of this workshop is to become aware of the body's habitual responses to stressing situations and to improve balance, movement skills, and relaxation. In this workshop simple exercises from Tai Chi and Aikido, two non-violent martial arts of self defense, will be used. Wear comfortable clothing that will allow participation in easy stretching and walking movements. Exercises will address: breathing; grounding, centering and balance; energy and locomotor movement; extension and expression; flexibility; and relaxation.

The ancient art of Tai Chi Chuan is becoming popular in the United States as a relaxation, stretching, and strengthening exercise form. Travelogues and stories from China many times show groups of people doing Tai Chi or "slow motion" workouts in park or along city streets. It is practiced on a daily basis by people of all ages in many Asian countries. It is sometimes described as a "moving meditation". Tai Chi exercises are often included in stress reduction programs.

Aikido was developed during this century in Japan. It teaches precise body control and movements in an effort to peacefully resolve conflict. Aikido's intent, to neutralize and attack without injuring the other person, appeals to growing numbers of people. Its emphasis is on harmony of body and mind and balance between inner and outer environments. Demonstration will be held from 3-4:30 p.m. in the Personnel Bldg Quadrangle (Bldg.2335). Walk in.

Marr continues to strive for the best

Marr notes he likes to assist in the training of NWC's Military Working Dogs. "I'm the person in the bite suit the dogs attack when given the command by their trainer," he said. "Unfortunately, there isn't a lot of time during working hours to work with the dogs," he said. "So, I come in on my free time."

In an effort to become a better police officer, Marr lost 95 lbs. since December. "I decided I was overweight and out of shape," he said. "So, I changed my eating habits and started to eat more fish, chicken and vegetables. I feel better about myself and this is reflected in my attitude on the job and how others perceive me."

Marr has attended a number of schools geared to improve his working abilities, including the Field Training Officer School and Traffic Accident Investigation School and several individual classes, including instructions on interviewing and interrogation techniques.

His next goal is to make sergeant. "I have already taken the Applied Supervision course offered at NWC," Marr said, "and the fact I am a field training officer, which tests my supervisory abilities on a one-on-one basis, should also help me achieve my goal."

Brown noted Marr was an exemplary officer on the force. "Marr's supervisors and peers alike agree that whenever he (Marr) is assigned a task, it will be handled dependably and accurately," he said.

The China Lake Police Officer of the Year resides in Ridgecrest with his wife, Cheryl, and their two children, Chad and Courtney.

winner of the NWC Technical Director's Award for his work on various special programs.

Communications are being improved by two very original methods. First, division managers encourage their people to listen to each other and act on their ideas.

And second, they hold a weekly division breakfast where everyone is invited to attend and encouraged to participate. The breakfasts allow anyone in Code 368 to discuss problems and solutions, whether they concern travel, job procedures or any other topic of interest to division managers.

Licenses for disabled have regulations

California law now requires the return to DMV of disabled person or disabled veteran license plates and disabled person placards within 60 days of the holder's death, or upon expiration of the plate or placard, whichever is sooner.

Disabled placards are issued every two years to motorists with a variety of disabilities and have a fixed expiration date. Current disabled placards will expire June 30, 1991. The $6 fee normally charged for the placard is waived for disabled veterans.

Vehicle license plates are distinguished by the letter combinations DP (disabled person) and are issued without additional registration charges. A Disabled Veteran (DV) license plate is issued without charge to qualifying veterans.

When displaying placards or distinguishing license plates, disabled motorists are allowed to park in blue-marked zones, as well as green time-limit zones and metered zones without paying meter fees. They may not park in loading zones, red zones, tow-away zones or near fire hydrants.

For information about how to obtain a disabled license plate or placard, contact the nearest riding, stay alert. Keep in mind the rules of the road also apply to bicycling. Dress with safety in mind -- wear bright clothes with reflective material for high visibility. Wear shoes -- never ride with bare feet -- and although long pants help protect your legs if you fall, be sure to keep them from getting caught in the chain. Roll up your pant legs, tuck them in your socks or wear pant clips.

Youth players learning more soccer skills and tactics thanks to volunteer coaches

While some scores were closer than others, all the players in the Naval Weapons Center Youth Soccer League are showing a better understanding of the game, the importance of teamwork and new skills and tactics taught to them by their volunteer coaches.

Division I

Stallions 4, Owls 1

In a game dominated by the Browns, Jonathan Brown kicked in all of the Stallions' goals. Royce Brown assisted Jonathan's second goal and Kyle Brown was credited with one of his best games ever. Despite aggressive play by Greg Ford and fast hustling by Erik Pockrandt, the Owls couldn't keep up with the Stallions. Richie Tyburski knocked in the Owls' lone goal.

Express 2, Sounders 0

Teamwork and excellent plays by Ryan Katzenstein, Derrick Begin, Sarah Kirkendoll and Jacob Nazeck prevented the Sounders from scoring. The Express goals were booted in by Glen Cordova and Whitney Harris. Excellent defensive moves by Jeff Collins and aggressive offense by Emerson Ward and Chris Shine weren't enough in the loss. Goalies Krystle Gifford and Steve Ribultan prevented several extra goals by the Express.

Cougars 2, Eagles 0

In a hard fought game, the Cougars emerged on top due to goals by Ryan Charlton and Adam Lobianco. Andy Smith, Patrick McDonald, Justin Robbins and Shannon Parks played a superb game and kept the Eagles from scoring. Steffani Koerner, Paul Schramm and Joseph Weidenkopf showed the Cougars that the Express wasn't to be taken lightly.

Apollos 2, Cobras 0

Defensive moves by Ken Banks, Dana Cain and Christopher Marshall could not keep the Apollos from scoring. The Apollos did not turn in a score sheet.

Coyotes 3, Hurricanes 0

Sheldon Plummer, Amanda Johantgen, Eric Otto and Megan Campbell were key Hurricanes players, but could not stop the loss. The Coyotes did not turn in a score sheet.

Division II

Jets 4, Wolves 1

Great effort by the whole team and goals by Jason Hickie, Robert Hoffman, Ben Labee and Aaron Marshall won the game.

Jeff Haack, Chris Brown and Chris Andrews made a strong showing for the Wolves. The Wolves' lone score was kicked in by Jonathan Ford.

Strikers 1, Rockets 0

A penalty kick by Arthur Walker put the Strikers on top. Clint Jones and Brandon Blanche helped to prevent the Rockets score low and the entire team did not turn in a score sheet.

Bullets 5, Diplomats 1

In a hotly contested game, the Mustangs ended on top due to two goals by Sal Ramirez, an awesome body block by Abe Souza and great forward plays by Lisa O'Neil. During the second half, goalie Tom Davis blocked numerous goal attempts by the Goalbusters. Jeremy Hayes, Aaron Ward and Nathan Turner made the Goalbusters a hard team to beat. Doug Speegle knocked in the Goalbusters' lone goal.

Roughnecks 3, Whitecaps 2

Despite excellent defense by Steve Secules, excellent ball control by Robbie Mitchell and Bryan Hartney and two goals by Jeff Robbins, the Whitecaps fell short. The Roughnecks did not turn in a score sheet.

Earthquakes 5, Electrons 0

Matt Blashill, Jamey Carvalho and Nathan Michelsen played a good game for the Electrons. The Earthquakes did not turn in a score sheet.

Division III

Lancers 3, Soccers 0

Goals by Tim Clark, Chris Potten and Stan Scofield caused the Lancers to emerge victorious. The Soccers, however, put up a good fight. Professional-like goal keeping by Tara Lundstrom and Thai Gutierrez kept the Lancers' score low and the entire team made the victors work.

Mustangs 2, Goalbusters 1

In a hotly contested game, the Mustangs ended on top due to two goals by Sal Ramirez, an awesome body block by Abe Souza and great forward plays by Lisa O'Neil. During the second half, goalie Tom Davis blocked numerous goal attempts by the Goalbusters. Jeremy Hayes, Aaron Ward and Nathan Turner made the Goalbusters a hard team to beat. Doug Speegle knocked in the Goalbusters' lone goal.

Division IV

Aztecs 3, Renegades 2

Two goals by Kevin Self and Joe Mechtenberg and hard work by Jerry Green, Howard Gamble and Aaron Schwartz weren't enough in this contest. The Aztecs did not turn in a score sheet.

Four graduate from TMC Program

After 350 hours of specialized training, four graduates recently received their coveted Technical Manager's Certificates (TMC). They are David T. Baur, associate production manager for STANDARD Missile, Intercept Weapons Department; John E. Gallagher, project manager for MK-54 Safe-Arm device, S-A Development Branch, Ordnance Systems Department; Robert (Bob) R. Hundley, program manager, Sidearm Project Office, Attack Weapons Department; and Paulette Williams, business manager, Target Systems Program Office, Aircraft Department.

The training took the four graduates between 1 1/2 to 2 1/2 years to complete while keeping up with their regular work loads. Williams further explained, "While the majority of the training hours were within normal working hours, it was necessary at time to spend extra hours to catch up on outstanding work assignments."

Three of the four graduates already have degrees. Gallagher has a bachelor's and master's degree in mechanical engineering, Williams has a bachelor's in business administration and a master's in administration, and Baur has two bachelor's degrees -- the first in computer science and the second in electrical, electronics. Hundley noted he did not yet have a degree, but is in the process of working on one.

One of the main reasons the four decided to participate in the TMC Program was to get technical and hands-on management courses to better understand the way NWC operates. "I wanted to better support my program manager and other technical people in my program office," said Williams.

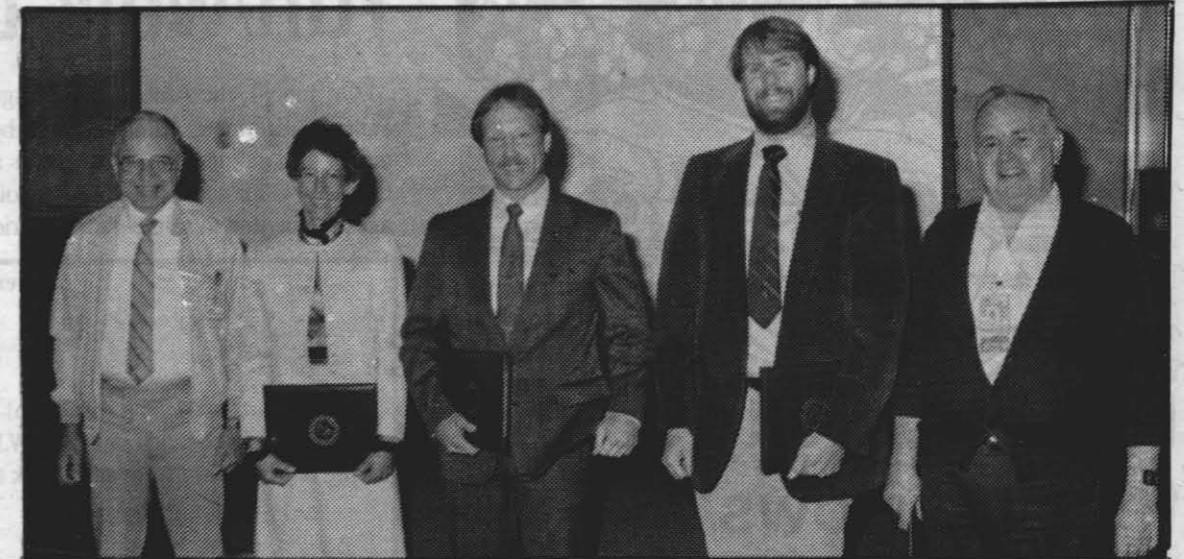

"The training gave me a better understanding of the NWC process -- how a concept is developed, produced and tested here at NWC," said Hundley.

"It has given me a greater insight of an overall pragmatic viewpoint than I have seen before," said Baur. "I now have a working knowledge of NWC's methods of operations."

"I have received new application tools I can use in my present job," said Gallagher.

All four highly recommended the program for people who are interested in becoming program managers and/or who work in a program office.

Nominations for both the TMC and Systems Engineering Certificate programs will be forthcoming later this month. Nomination forms may be obtained from the Human Resources Development Division (Code 224) and should be submitted to the head of staff for department endorsement before being forwarded to Code 3302.

Be smart!

Follow safety procedures when riding

May is American Bike Month. Just as the number of people bicycling for fun, exercise and transportation has dramatically increased over the last few years, so have bicycle accidents.

Last year, three military members were killed in bicycle accidents. In Fiscal Year (FY) 1984, 75 military members were injured while bicycling. In FY 1985, 119 were injured, an increase of 59 percent in just one year. During fiscal years 1986 through 1989, another 477 people were injured on bicycles. Those injuries were serious enough to require medical attention.

Most injuries weren't life-threatening -- scrapes, bruises and broken bones. However, head injuries fall into a different category. Many people never fully recover from a severe head injury. They can lose mental capacity and control of their bodies. Sometimes the damage is evident immediately following the accident -- in some cases, the damage isn't apparent until years later.

There is one way you can reduce the risk of head injuries when bicycling -- wear a bicycle helmet every time you ride.

What are some other ways you can make bicycling safer? Choose a bicycle that is the right size for you. A bicycle is a vehicle. Routinely maintain it just as you do your automobile. While (Continued on Page 15)

NWC's varsity softball team narrows the gap

Battling high winds and stinging sand, the Naval Weapons Center Varsity Softball Team once again took on Edwards Air Force Base's military softball team in Desert to the Sea Interservice League competition. Even though the local team once again lost both games in the double header, they came together as a team, noted Coach Leon Hillewaert, and gave Edwards some real competition.

The second inning saw Mike Bumberger hit a double and was hit home by Dennis Love's double. Mark Hueman scored an RBI when his base hit scored Love. Fourth inning action saw another run score when Hueman once again brought Love home. The local team earned two runs in the fifth inning when a triple by Vinnie Hunsecker scored Daryl Alexander and Robbic Rankins. With two outs, Ryan Hendricks and Carter Hensen got on base with singles and were brought home with a good single by Brian Ditsch. In the final inning, Rankins smashed the ball out of the park for the only run. Final score, Edwards 14, China Lake 8.

The second game was a battle for both teams ending in a close score of 19-17. A single by Terry Boren and a walk by Bob Nierenhausen (N+11) earned the China Lake team two runs when Rankins and Hunsecker each got an RBI. Mark Heumann scored NWC's only run in the second inning. The China Lake representatives came alive in the third inning, scoring 11 runs. Homeruns by Rankins and Hunsecker gave the team a needed lift. Other scorers were Bumberger (two runs), Heumann, Love, Hensen, Jason Langston, Boren, N+11 and Rankins. Fourth inning action only saw a home run by Ryan Hendricks and fifth inning action saw a home run by Hensen. Bumberger noted he felt the team played well, especially considering that Edwards is ranked as the Number One team in the division. "We'll do even better this weekend when we play Port Hueneme in a double header here at China Lake." The first game starts at 11 a.m. on Schoffel Field.

American Heritage's annual run/walk takes place June 4

On June 4, the American Heritage Week second annual 5-Kilometer Run/Walk will be held. Starting at 11:30 a.m., the race will begin and end at the Officers' Club southside parking lot. People of all ages are invited to salute their American Heritage.
